Masha Janssen, who runs the YouTube channel "From Masha with Love", conducted a second interview with me between Christmas and New Year - this time at my home. The Russian TV journalist from Donetsk, Ukraine, who emigrated to Germany as a young woman and now lives in Moscow again after 20 years, sat down with me over a glass of wine - a stimulating and interesting conversation.

The conversation, which lasted over 90 minutes, was conducted in German. Maria Avilova provided it with Russian and English subtitles - a Herculean task - thank you very much!

Much of what is discussed in this interview has already been included in one of our many articles - but not everything.

Enjoy!
